

Fullstack Developer (m/f/d)

Düsseldorf / Permanent position

We are:

Are you looking for new challenges and career opportunities? Do you want to actively shape your future? Then join us! We are IT Service & Engineering service providers in Germany. Apply now and show us what you're made of.

These challenges await you:

- Together with your team, you will design, create, test, integrate and document complex and performance-critical custom software products for our customers.
- We help create solutions that make our clients better, faster, more agile, and more efficient. We use full-stack development and a broad technology stack (e.g., Java, JavaScript, Kotlin, Node.js, Swift, Kubernetes, Docker, Flutter). We choose the programming language that best suits your needs.
- We embrace innovation and strive for continuous improvement. That's why we focus on innovation labs, techie lunches, and cope camps within our techie community.

You bring the following:

- You are passionate about programming and were already enthusiastic about software development during your studies.
- You have very good knowledge of (agile) software development (Java, JEE or JavaScript), automated testing, and continuous integration/continuous delivery.
- You have good knowledge of various software and system architectures, especially distributed systems (microservices, self-contained systems) and container technologies.
- You speak German well, enjoy working in a team, and actively drive change.

We bring the following:

- 30 days of vacation
- Mobile working and flexible working time models
- Further training opportunities
- Modern workplace equipment

Please send us CV and Certificates to Info@nm-smarttech.com